IN VACATION.

"Six days or $6," said the judge sternly.

"I'll take the $6," said the prisoner. "I've got enough time on my hands as it is."

An application for indemnity was filed under the Workmen's Compensation Law of Oregon, by a farmhand. The blank form for the filing of claims contains two questions, evidently intended to apply to injuries sustained in mills or factories.

One of these is, "What was the nature of the machine by which you were injured?" The other question is, "Was the machine in good order at the time of your injury?" To the first of these questions the answer was, "Cross," and to the second was an enthusiastic, heavily written and boldly underlined, "Yes."

To the question, "How were you hurt?" the answer was, "I was kicked by a mule."—The Christian Herald.

"How do you happen to be in prison?"

"It is the result of an accident."

"You ran over some one with your auto?"

"No, ma'am, I fell over a chair and waked up the owner of the house."—Houston Post.
